

To our friends -- We have decided to use this area to share things with our visitors. It could be words of encouragement, revelations, prophecies, etc. If you have something you would like to share, we encourage you to submit it to us for review and editing as may be required. Any submissions will remain anonymous. All glory goes to God. We will find a place in our Storehouse to archive these for future reference. Emails may be sent to submissions@ministryofprayer.org. We pray you be blessed as you visit this website.

Eternity

"I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End, the First and the Last." Rev 22:13. God does not dwell in time and space as we do. He dwells in eternity without any limits. Before God there was nothing there will be nothing after Him.

What do we have in scripture to prove that God operates and exists outside of time? And that He can intervene in our time. In Joshua 10 and Isaiah 38 they both speak of the sun moving backwards or standing still. Acts 8 speaks of Philip being "caught away" which would transcend both time and space. I think we can all feel assured that God is not limited by time or space.

Because God does not dwell in time, He has forever to spend with each of us. He is there continually for every second of our mortal lives. That is how He is always listening and always able to hear each one of us in our personal time and space. He has all the time in the world for everyone. I know that's difficult for our mortal minds to comprehend. The question is, "how much time do we have for Him?" That question should humble and humiliate each one of us.

Jesus was born in the flesh that we might be born in the spirit. That we might have a spirit that was alive to God. To know and experience Him. The Bible speaks about a man knowing his wife and it means an intimate and complete joining with her. That's the relationship we are offered with God. To know even as we have been known.

I was once witnessing to a group of people I worked with when one of them took me aback by saying they thought heaven would be boring. How sad. I can't begin to imagine the glory and joys of knowing and experiencing God. "You will show me the path of life; In Your presence is fullness of joy; At Your right hand are pleasures forevermore." Psalm 16:11 I can't wait.

We, however, live in time and space. God may be eternal, but we are currently restricted to this short span called life. It is here we make decisions that affect our eternity. Please, I beg each of you to seriously consider Jesus and what He has spoken. None of us know when we will be throw into eternity. In Romans 9 Paul said he could almost wish to be cut off from Christ to save His brethren. "A man may lose the good things of this life against his will; but if he loses the eternal blessings, he does so with his own consent." - Augustine

God wants more of us — do you want more of Him?

"And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."
